

Rewards and Recognition

Assessment Form: Administrative Leaders

The purpose of this form

This assessment form is designed to help identify opportunities to improve existing reward and recognition programs and develop new opportunities to reward and recognize your staff.

Who should complete this form

Administrative Leaders (e.g., Executive leaders, C-suite members, Medical Directors, Division Leads, Department Chairs)

How to use this form

This form will ask you questions about the rewards and recognition that are offered currently or that you would like to be offered at your hospital. Questions will address four types of rewards and recognition:

- 1. Rewards that are currently offered
- 2. Recognition that is currently offered
- 3. Opportunities to improve current rewards and recognition
- 4. New rewards and recognition
- 5. Additional comments

Please use the space available to provide your perspective about the rewards and recognition on your unit. Answering these questions will provide a structured approach to help guide you to identify opportunities to enhance the rewards and recognition offered on your unit.

Rewards and Recognition

Assessment Form: Administrative Leaders

Name (optional)
Job title
Unit
Date
form of things like paid time of certificates (i.e., emblematic). Recognition is an acknowled privately. These are typically concert with rewards. Administrative Leaders can dimplement reward and recognition and recognitions of the certification of the certific	gment of high performance communicated to individuals, either publicly or non-financial, like a temporary or permanent title, and sometimes occur in levelop more than just a single reward or recognition, and they can inition programs that can support a culture of rewarding and recognizing
1. What rewards for HAI	prevention are you aware of in your hospital?
Who delivers these rewards?	,
How frequently are they awa	ırded?
Who hears about it when sor	meone receives a reward?

re	going through this process, are there any opportunities to improve the existing wards and recognition (i.e., change how they delivered, frequency, audience, cost, ecificity of evaluation criteria)?
Are th	e evaluation criteria for the recognition clearly communicated?
How n	nuch does the recognition cost? And who pays this cost?
Who h	ears about it when someone is recognized?
How fi	requently is recognition offered?
Who d	lelivers the recognition?
2. W	hat recognition for HAI prevention are you aware of in your hospital?
Are th	e evaluation criteria for these rewards clearly communicated?
How n	nuch do these rewards cost? And who pays this cost?

New Rewards and Recognition for HAI Prevention

4. Are there additional rewards or recognition that you would like to offer in your hospital?
Who will deliver the reward/recognition?
How frequently will it be offered?
Who else will hear about it?
How much will it cost?
Does anyone need to approve this cost?
How will you select the recipient?
How will you communicate the selection process?
5. Additional comments